Welcome to G2! Here are our guidelines for how, when, and where you can use G2 content and data as part of your subscription.

Permitted Uses:
You may share links to any of our content by email and on social media, provided that you include attribution. For example, “Source: G2.com”.

If you have earned a G2 badge, you may publish the badge on your website, provided that it contains a backlink to the G2 page for your product or service. You may modify the badge colors to conform to your internal brand guidelines but may not otherwise modify or alter (i.e. you may not change any text, shape, etc.) any earned badges.

You may republish and share reviews of the products for which you have licensed a Site Profile. You may republish and share excerpts of reviews of the products and services for which you have licensed a Site Profile, provided that you do not alter the context of the review. All republished reviews must link back to the original review on G2.com.

You may reference your position (i.e. “Leader,” “High Performer,” Contender,” or “Niche”) on the then-current Grid Report (as distinguishable from the real-time Grid available on the Category page), provided that such reference contains a backlink to the applicable Grid Report and/or relevant Category page. However, unless you have licensed the applicable Grid Report, you may not utilize any of the underlying data points, including “Satisfaction” rating and/or “Market Presence.” You may not imply that your paid subscription with G2 in any way has influenced your product(s) or service(s) position on the applicable Grid or otherwise indicate that G2 in any way endorses, approves of, or otherwise takes any position on the quality, effectiveness, or general usability of your product or service, as applicable.

You may reference your position (if applicable) in G2’s real-time rankings (e.g. “Highest Rated” and “Easiest to Use”), provided that such reference contains a backlink to the applicable Category page. If you have applied any filters, you must backlink to the filtered rankings, and include relevant details related to any such filters. For example, if your product is the #1 “Highest Rated” mid-market marketing automation product in Latin America, you must include the relevant company size and/or regional segmented data when referencing such position.

You may use any report you have licensed, individually (or collectively, if you have the All-Access Content Subscription), in your sales and marketing efforts, investor decks, and/or in press releases or other media alerts. Please attribute all reports in accordance with our attribution policy. If you have licensed any report(s), you may utilize any of the underlying data points in your licensed report, including but not limited to “Satisfaction” and/or “Market Presence” scores. You may not alter, abridge or otherwise modify any reports, and you may not use reports to which your license has expired and/or are more than one year past its issuance date.
You may republish and share the aggregated Star Rating of your product(s) and/or service(s) on the G2 Site, provided that you include a backlink to the applicable profile page on G2.com and that you attribute the Star Rating to G2 in accordance with our Attribution Policy below.

If you would like to use G2's content or data in a manner that is not expressly authorized or prohibited hereunder, you may contact us at legal@g2.com with your request and we will review your request, each on a case-by-case basis, and approve or decline your request, in our sole discretion. Please note that any permission to use any G2 content or data that is granted by G2 may be revoked or modified in G2's sole discretion at any time, unless otherwise agreed in writing.

Unauthorized Use:
You may not republish, alter, abridge, or otherwise modify any of our reports without a license. This includes any Grid Reports, Compare Reports, and/or Index Reports.

You may not republish and share reviews of any of your products or services for which you have not licensed a Site Profile, and you may not republish and/or share reviews of any other products or services listed on the G2 Site.

You may not screenshot any portion of the G2 website, including any reports, for any commercial purpose, including inclusion in sales and marketing collateral, investor decks, and/or press releases or other media alerts.

You may not use any content or data from the G2 Site which you have not licensed and for any uses not expressly authorized above.

You may not resell any content or data from the G2.com site (and any subdomains thereof).

Attribution Policy

Article/Press Release/Public Statement Attribution

- If you would like to include G2 or cite our data points in an article, press release, or public statement, please attribute such reference or content to "G2.com, Inc." in the first instance and thereafter you may reference “G2.”
- If your article, press release, or public statement is basing analyses and claims in part or wholly on G2 content or data, please contact us at Press@g2.com for review and approval of the relevant statement prior to publication.
Blog Attribution

- If you reference a specific G2 blog post, please be certain to link to the URL of the specific post you are referencing.

Badge Republication Guidelines

- If you have earned a G2 badge and wish to republish any earned badge on your website, you may not alter, abridge, or otherwise modify the badge in any manner. For example, you may not alter the colors of the badge to match your brand guidelines.

Report Attribution Guidelines

- If you have licensed a G2 report, please attribute the report and any underlying data to G2. In your attribution, please include the season, Category, and report type. For example, if you have licensed a Summer 2019 Small Business Grid Report for CRM, you must include the relevant season, company size, and Category name.

Star Rating Attribution

- If you republish and share the aggregated Star Rating of your products and services on the G2 Site, please attribute the Star Rating as follows: “Source: G2.com, Inc.”

G2 Trademarks and Copyrights Guidelines

G2’s trademarks and copyrighted works include our names, logos, website content, videos and other matter protected under trademark or copyright law.

You may refer to G2’s trademarks in word form only to describe accurately how your products or services relate to our products or services, so long as you follow these Guidelines and make clear that your products and services are not offered, sponsored or endorsed by G2. Please do not use G2’s trademarks as nouns or verbs.

You may only use G2’s logo under license or other written contractual permission. If you would like permission to use the G2 logo or other trademarks, please contact us at legal@g2.com.

If you have permission to use any of G2’s trademarks, and if your use of the G2 trademark(s) is primarily intended for a U.S. audience or will be distributed through a U.S. website, publication, or trade show, please include the ® symbol associated with the mark(s) you are using, as appropriate. Please do not include any symbol after any of G2’s trademark(s) if your publication is intended for use or distribution outside the U.S.
Personal Data Considerations:

All G2 reviewers consent to the processing of their personal data by G2; however, whether or not you republish any of the personally identifiable information (i.e. first and last name, profile picture, or any combination of personal information and non-personal information that could directly or indirectly identify an individual and which may be available on certain reviews on the G2 Site) on your website, social media channels, etc., is a matter for you and your legal team to consider.

Be sure to return to this page periodically to review the most current version of these Guidelines. We may modify these Guidelines for example, to reflect additional content or data, or to expand certain use cases. You should look at these Guidelines regularly. We'll post notice of modifications to these Guidelines. Changes will not apply retroactively and will become effective no sooner than fourteen days after they are posted. However, changes made for legal reasons may be effective immediately and, if so, will be noted as such here.