

A construction worker wearing a white hard hat and a safety vest is looking at a laptop on a construction site. The image has an orange tint.

CASE STUDY

Connect Field and Office

Keep your teams together even when they're not. That's the power of mobility. With Procore, all your team members can access any and all the information they need, with real time updates and instantaneous tracking. This means more teamwork, less rework, and better profit margins.

PROCORE

But don't let us tell you, hear what Procore's clients have to say.

Adam, one of our company's partners, can open up his iPad and scroll to a job and figure out the status of a submittal. If an owner requests the status on a job, he's able to immediately see what's going on. It's a much better way of finding things out than what we were doing before.

Mike Bender

Partner

41 NORTH CONTRACTORS

41  North Contractors

When you've got a lot of time on the plane, it's so much easier to use a phone or iPad than it is to pull out your whole laptop setup. The mobile app has saved us a ton of time and keeps us efficient when we're away from our desks.

Eric Weatherwax

Project Manager

BBL CONSTRUCTION SERVICES

BBL Construction
Services

Terry Bottenfield, our company president, is in Sacramento. Not only is he involved, but he weighs in and has a thorough understanding of why we do certain things and why a particular dollar value is affixed to it. In our position, Procore is becoming more and more invaluable every day.

Jerry Stone

Superintendent

BOTTENFIELD CONSTRUCTION

 BOTTENFIELD
CONSTRUCTION

I knew that with Procore, you had access from anywhere, anytime, but one of our project managers was talking about how exciting it was. He was on the job site, and somebody asked about an RFI. He just whipped out his iPhone and pulled up the RFI and had it right there, instead of having to delay and go back to his office or come back to our office and print the RFI and send it out. I mean, he just had it right there on his phone.

Bridges Handford

Project Admin

MYERS & CHAPMAN

Myers & Chapman

Team members had to come back to the office or trailer, sit down at their desk, and enter in all that information. And hopefully they didn't lose the sheets of paper they had been writing on all day. It saves a lot of foot traffic. When you look at a lot of job sites, often times the trailer is not right around the corner—it can be a bit of a haul. So using Procore's mobile apps out in the field removes that procrastination.

Joe Little

Construction Training Manager
STREETLIGHTS RESIDENTIAL

STREETLIGHTS
RESIDENTIAL

Most team members access the software from their mobile devices—the company has over 400 iPads in the field, which superintendents and field staff use exclusively on the job site. Because Procore is accessible from anywhere, it has eliminated a lot of what previously needed to be completed on their computers—Consigli teams are no longer chained to their desks.

Anthony Chiaradonna

Chief Information Officer
CONSIGLI CONSTRUCTION CO.

CONSIGLI