Is monthly a good fit for me?

If you plan to send messages frequently and to the same group of numbers, then monthly is a good fit. Plans are determined by the total count of unique phone numbers you message each month.

Is the monthly plan unlimited?

You can use the monthly plan whenever you need to message your group, but make sure you're respectful of how often your audience wants to receive your messages. MMS messages are not included on monthly plans.

Can I change my contact phone numbers throughout the month?

You can add phone numbers to the your account whenever you want. However, we track how many unique phone numbers you reach out to each month. The total number of phone numbers you've reached out to is displayed on your account's homepage. Whenever you contact a phone number, it is added to this unique count and then you are allowed to send them messages as often as needed.

If your unique count exceeds your plan size, you will not be able to send messages to any new phone numbers until you either upgrade to the next group size, or wait for the next month to start.
