Key HR tech challenges faced by organisations today

HR shouldn't feel overwhelming. Yet for busy HR and Payroll professionals, many traditional platforms make things harder, not easier.

Managing HR, payroll, recruitment, and employee benefits shouldn't mean juggling multiple systems, higher costs, and endless admin. But that's the reality for many teams today. A fragmented HR tech stack creates silos, slows processes, and adds unnecessary complexity for everyone involved.

Employees

- Cumbersome user experience with multiple-logins
- Not a centralised place to manage employee leave
- Back and forth for expense and documents signing

Payroll Admins

- Spending 6+ hours on manual pay variance checking
- Trying to figure out HMRC cryptic codes
- Difficulty in getting HR data for accurate payroll

HR Managers

- Manual reports & time-consuming admin
- Inundated with multiple employee requests during peak periods
- Frustration with manual data transfer to Payroll system

Business Managers

- Fragmented reporting to drive key insights
- Higher costs due to multiple tools
- Lower employee performance and compliance
