

Elite EXTRA: Last Mile Logistics Software

Smarter Logistics.

Optimized Miles.

Faster Deliveries — Guaranteed!

What is Last Mile Technology?

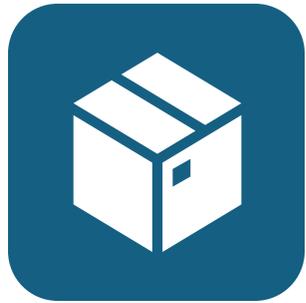

Last mile technology refers to the tools, platforms, and systems designed to optimize the final leg of the delivery process—from a transportation hub or distribution center to the end customer's doorstep or business.

In simple terms:

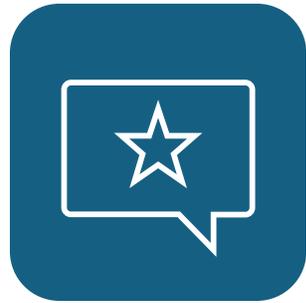

It's the tech that ensures packages, parts, or products are delivered accurately, efficiently, and on time, especially in the most complex part of the supply chain.

What Our Clients Say

“Elite EXTRA has really changed our delivery game. Not only are we able to provide all delivery information for our customers, but we are also able to keep our warehouses more organized in the morning. No more guessing which driver will be taking what orders, worrying about forgetting deliveries, or guessing who delivered what parts on what day. It’s all organized in EXTRA!”

Chelsea Chapman

JX Truck Center

“Customer service and implementation support has been top notch, as we rolled the software out to multiple warehouses throughout our company. Elite EXTRA is easy to use and provides information that is beneficial across the organization and with our customers. I would recommend Routing & Dispatch for any company exploring transportation management systems.”

Jesse Seibel

VP Supply

“The returns option for customers has been a great addition to the software. Now customers have the ability to request a return and follow the process to get their refund. It is another way to connect us with the customers. Love the new features.”
