Is Timberline Pellet Grill worth it? Can't choose between this two options

15 Jun 2025 10:15 PM

Answer

If you're choosing between the Timberline Pellet Grill with 880 sq in of cooking space and the Timberline XL with 1320 sq in, the main difference really comes down to size and how much food you plan to cook at once.

Both grills offer the same premium features, including excellent temperature control, WiFIRE app connectivity, insulation for consistent heat, and high-end build quality, so performance and functionality are essentially the same.

A few things people like about each other:

Our commitment to excellence ensures that every item is not only functional but also a testament to refined taste and individuality.

WILLIAM HENRY

Can you show me cigar cutters made of wood?

Answer

A cigar cutter crafted from wood is more than a tool—it's a small ceremony, a daily ritual shaped by nature and human hands. Two pieces stand apart in our atelier: the 'Mesa,' with hand-polished Arizona ironwood scales, and the 'Rip,' adorned with storied Pappy Van Winkle barrel wood. Both feature a titanium frame, a precision-ground Damascus blade by Chad Nichols, and gemstone-set hardware—each detail the result of dozens of hands and a reverence for rare materials. These cutters turn the simple act of preparing a cigar into an heirloom-worthy moment, meant to be admired, used, and eventually handed down.
