

A Profit-Driven System

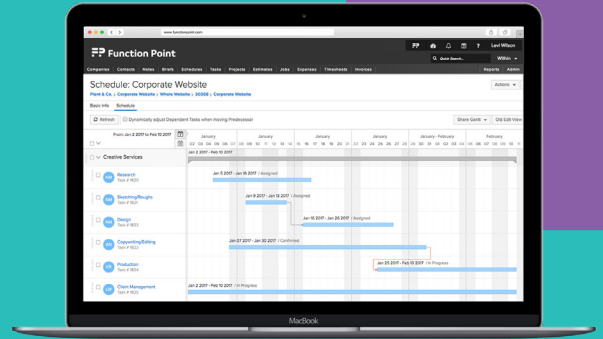

For Your Profit-Driven Company

Do you know how much profit your last three projects made?

Used by over 9000 users across the world, Function Point reduces the complexity of operating creative agencies and professional services firms by connecting each stage of project management in one centralized system.

From first touch to final signature, get a clear view into profitability with Function Point.

What You Get

Accounting

Look at everything from real-time financial reports, to invoices, to timesheet summaries. Seamless integration with QuickBooks means you won't be forced to learn new software. Easily pull reports at a moments notice.

Collaboration

Essential project communications and notifications, all right here. Forget spreading communications across email, text messages, smoke signals, and whatever else. Automated and real-time notifications clear up project communications, saving you time and money.

Project Management

Need to check in on that upcoming milestone? Function Point gives you a bird's eye view, tracking what matters most to your company. Be confident with timelines, dependencies, budgets and progress for both project managers and creatives.

Insights and Analytics

Get a better understanding of your agency's performance. Gain deeper insights into project profitability and which clients to fire. Insights and analytics let you make informed decisions, every

Resource Management

Time tracking and resource management give valuable insight into how long your individual team members need to do their best work. Not only that, it determines when additional resources or team members are required for a project.

Client Communications

Client asking for an update? Stay in the know with easy access to project progress, budgets, and billing history. Eliminate unnecessary back and forth emails using Function Point's CRM and client portal.

What They're Saying

"The level of responsiveness and teamwork that the Function Point team have demonstrated has been outstanding."
